He never set foot in America, but Smithson admired this budding nation and bequeathed his treasures to creation in Washington, under the name of the Smithsonian Institution, an establishment for the enhancement and diffusion of knowledge. He cannot foresee the breadth of discoveries and scholarships that emerge from his legacy, but his legacy has grown into the world's largest museum, educational and research complex, with 19 museums, 9 research centers, National Animal and 21 libraries. Smithsonian scientists and scholars work in 140 countries, including the UK, to preserve cultural culture and biodiversity, exploring space, saving species and improving art. The museum is the administrator of the national collection, which has more than 154 artifacts, artworks, and specimens from the United States and around the world. The Smithsonian Charitable UK Trust (#1147674 charity) was established in 2012 to support projects that advance Smithsonian scholarships, experience and resources. The Trust is funded by charitable donations from UK donors. Schedule Schedule
